

Clinical STD/HIV Education

Continuing Medical and Nursing Education

Web-Based Training

Serving New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico,
the U.S. Virgin Islands, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio

NEW YORK CITY

STD
HIV PREVENTION
TRAINING CENTER

42-08 28th St. 20th Fl. CN 73
Queens, NY 11101
347.396.7276 phone
www.nycptc.org
nycptc@health.nyc.gov

Scan on your smartphone
to visit our website

The New York City STD/HIV Prevention Training Center (PTC) is one of eight regional training centers funded by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The mission of the PTC is to reduce sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) and HIV morbidity and improve sexual health by addressing the educational needs of clinical providers throughout New York City, New York State, New Jersey, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. We partner with several organizations, including health departments, universities and hospital systems to provide STD/HIV education. Our faculty includes experts in the field from across our region.

Target audience: Physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners and physicians' assistants

Programs: Classroom training, clinical precepting, grand rounds presentations, webinars, print resources, clinical consults and technical assistance. Training activities focus on the prevention, diagnosis and management of STDs, including HIV.

Please visit our website www.nycptc.org for more information about our programs and registration.